

A Message from our Executive Director

We continue to raise our voices for the issue of affordable homeownership, including the housing supply challenge, and took our message to Congress at this year's Habitat on the Hill. We shared with policymakers our handout (see further below) on what we were able to do when we have the support needed to address these issues in our community.

Women Build 2025

As we mentioned in our February issue, we are looking for people ready to make a difference! This year, we are taking on an exciting challenge constructing a duplex from the foundation up and helping two families achieve their dream of homeownership.

During May and June, women-led teams of 10 (men can join, too!) will engage in friendly, competitive peer-to-peer fundraising. Each team will also have a dedicated build day where they work on site, transforming the foundation into a home. The more teams we have, the more progress we can make. Let's build bigger and better this year!

Check out the progress made last year with 14 teams in 14 build days. This year, we're aiming for even more teams and more impact!

Visit our website (click on the blue button) to share your name, contact information, and possible interests with Women Build. We will be in touch to provide all the details you will need.

Cars for Homes Qs & As

Q: How much of the money goes to Habitat when my vehicle is sold?

A: The CFH partners at Advanced Remarketing Services return a higher percentage than any other vehicle processing entity. On a monthly basis, between 84% and 87% of the gross revenue generated from vehicle sales comes to Habitat for Humanity.
